

REQUIRED DISCLOSURE WORKSHEET

Owner-completion checklist — confirm which disclosures apply before signing

This worksheet lists disclosures that may be required depending on the property and the facts. Do not mark a fact-dependent disclosure as “Applies” unless you have verified it for this property. When a disclosure applies, attach the completed disclosure to the signed Agreement. If you are unsure, ask a California landlord-tenant attorney.

OPTIONAL — TENANT PROTECTION ACT EXEMPTION ADDENDUM

Use ONLY after confirming the property qualifies and obtaining legal guidance

Do not sign or attach this addendum unless the owner has confirmed that the property qualifies for an exemption from the California Tenant Protection Act and has received legal guidance. Signing this addendum when the property does not qualify can be ineffective and can expose the owner to liability. If in doubt, leave this page out of the signed package.

Some single-family homes and condominiums are exempt from the just-cause and rent-cap provisions of Civil Code sections 1946.2 and 1947.12, but only if the property is not owned by a real estate investment trust, a corporation, or a limited liability company with a corporate member, and only if the owner gives the tenant the specific written notice the statute requires. Other exemptions exist for certain new construction and owner-occupied situations. Whether an exemption applies is a legal question that depends on the facts.

If, after verification and legal guidance, the owner claims the single-family / condominium exemption, California law currently requires substantially the following notice to be provided:

This property is not subject to the rent limits imposed by Section 1947.12 of the Civil Code and is not subject to the just cause requirements of Section 1946.2 of the Civil Code. This property meets the requirements of Sections 1947.12 (d)(5) and 1946.2 (e)(8) of the Civil Code and the owner is not any of the following: (1) a real estate investment trust, as defined by Section 856 of the Internal Revenue Code; (2) a corporation; or (3) a limited liability company in which at least one member is a corporation.

The exact required wording is set by statute and can change. Confirm the current statutory language before use. This addendum does not itself determine that the property is exempt.
